Miss Denny and Mrs. Culler, a student teacher, anticipate student reaction while developing their English material.

Central High students investigated the general facets of literature, grammar, and composition in an endeavor to master their skills in English classes. Drills and the basic structure of paragraphs were stressed for sophomores to supplement their writing of themes. The literature ranged from Idylls of the King to A Separate Peace.

Juniors studied classical and modern American authors, poetry scansion, and fundamental grammar rules.

Concentrating on creative compositions, seniors spent long hours during second semester writing term papers. English V, an accelerated course stressing interpretation, comparison, and critical analysis of literary works, was open to selected seniors.

In developing new ideas for the future, students learned, through experiments in the science department of 1968-1969 that everything was not as it seemed on the surface. Central High School's modern laboratory facilities allowed biology, chemistry, and physics students to research science problems before coming to a conclusion.

In biology students centered attention on life in all forms and its development. Students seeking higher degrees of science education turned to chemistry, physics, and advanced biology. From the simplest life study to the most complex lab experiments, students learned to appreciate the discovery of a well-founded conclusion that will aid them in future life no matter what the situation.

Several new courses and the latest in equipment characterized the business education department this year. Capable and dedicated teachers worked diligently to train students in such business activities as typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and accounting.

Cooperative Office Occupations, Preparatory Office Occupations, and Office Machines were three new courses added to the curriculum at Central High School. The cooperative program, designed to prepare the business student for office work immediately following graduation, achieved this goal by placing the students in part time jobs in the afternoons. The students received three units of credit for this course.

For High Point Central's math department, the word was concentration. The teacher-student relationship for math students had to be a clear one, for math, from general courses, to analytic geometry, required agreement in all cases for complete comprehension of subject matter. High Point's math department has an excellent foundation with teachers who helped rather than forced a student to learn.

In general, the math department encompassed three different lines of study: one for general curriculum math students, one for the average progressive student, and one for the advanced student particularly interested in math and science. Courses such as elementary functions and analytic geometry were set up to challenge the most advanced student, while other courses laid a foundation for an adequate math background. All in all, math's chief objectives, to challenge, to concentrate, and to comprehend, were achieved at Central High School.

Throughout North Carolina an attempt was made to employ a broader, more cultural approach to teaching social studies. At Central High School changes in the social studies curriculum put more emphasis on events of recent years. Three significant changes were made by this department for the year 1968-69. For the college bound student a semester course of world cultures was offered. This year it was a study of Latin America, highlighting Mexico. Contemporary history, another new addition, concerned events after the 1950's. There was also a semester course dealing with the comparisons of governments of various nations throughout the world.

Seniors had the widest choice of courses, including world history, economics, and sociology. United States history, a course required of all juniors, was taught in traditional as well as television classes. Democracy in Action and geography were courses confined to sophomores.

interest in foreign cultures, customs, heritage

Central's language department enabled students to further their knowledge of the languages and customs of France, Spain, or the Latin civilization. Department teachers employed the use of tapes and earphones to help the students with their oral studies. Central offered a four year program in each of the languages.

The French and Spanish classes participated in Central's Language Week. This year, they presented "An Evening Abroad" where not only Spanish and French desserts were served, but entertainment was also provided.

Language Week, the annual money making project of the French and Spanish classes, raised money to finance a selected student's trip to France. Last year, Brenda Weant was chosen to travel to Spain.

In addition to Home Economics I, II, III, three new courses were added to the home economics department this past school year. Boys were given a chance to cook and sew when the boys' home economics course was opened to them.

Junior and senior girls were offered a chance to take field trips and observe various places of employment in the occupational courses. The purpose of this course was to prepare students for employment after graduation. The courses included food service and management aide. For the girls taking food service, field trips were made to various eating establishments to observe the employees and the various activities connected with the job. They also observed in school cafeterias. The girls training as management aides observed in several hotels, motels and homes for the aged. Study for these courses was based on practical activities.

Programs for the three groups pertained to the seasons of the year and to the holidays which occurred during the school year. ## Industrial arts pupils use techniques of design

John M. Holder

When the 1968 year began, many of Central's industrial arts students felt that drawing a straight line would be a great accomplishment, but soon each had become a young architect, carpenter, or metalist. Woodworking classes began by learning the fundamentals of design, and then went on to the construction of large pieces of furniture. Having mastered the techniques of the oxyacetylene torch, metal lathe, and surface grinder, students in metalworking classes put their skills to use in making small hardware. Mechanical drawing taught students the art of detailed designing, including house plans and blueprints.

Also open this year was an art course for those students who had talent and time for an elective. Miss Kathryn Ash headed the new department.

A new vocational program was introduced this year at Central. Included were courses in distributive education, industrial cooperative training, auto mechanics, and bricklaying.

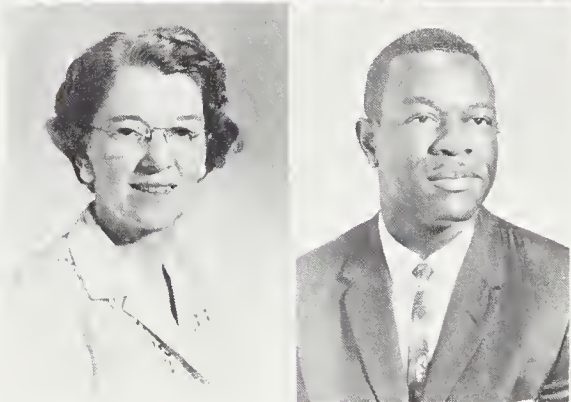

Distributive education, a study of marketing and distribution theory, and ITC, which provided technical classroom study, also gave the student a chance at on the job experience. Auto mechanics developed basic skills and understanding of vehicles and their repairs. In bricklaying students learned the use of masonry tools as they prepared for a vocation. The two latter courses were taught at William Penn High School where facilities already existed.

Because of student interest, the vocational program hoped to offer a more detailed study in the future.

Librarians assist students with new facilities

Miss Bain Johnson, librarian; Miss Mary Byrd, assistant librarian; and Mrs. Bettye White, library aide, composed Central's library staff, which had the difficult job of keeping up with over 17,287 books.

Having 575 film strips, 1550 recordings, 95 magazines, and five newspapers, the library made available any information a student might need. The staff anticipated providing additional audio-visual materials next year.

The library was used very much last year with an average circulation of 12½ books per pupil with a few pupils checking out 100 or more books.

Counselors provide sessions for students

Working in the expanded guidance facilities, Central's counselors Mrs. Janet Clark, Mrs. Evelyn Harris, and Mrs. Ethel Hughes held both group and individual sessions to advise students. Each counselor was assigned one section of students to help interpret the scores of individual ability and reading tests. In the spring, sophomores and juniors were personally registered to insure correct course designation and to make guidance more readily available to those who needed help in deciding which courses to take.

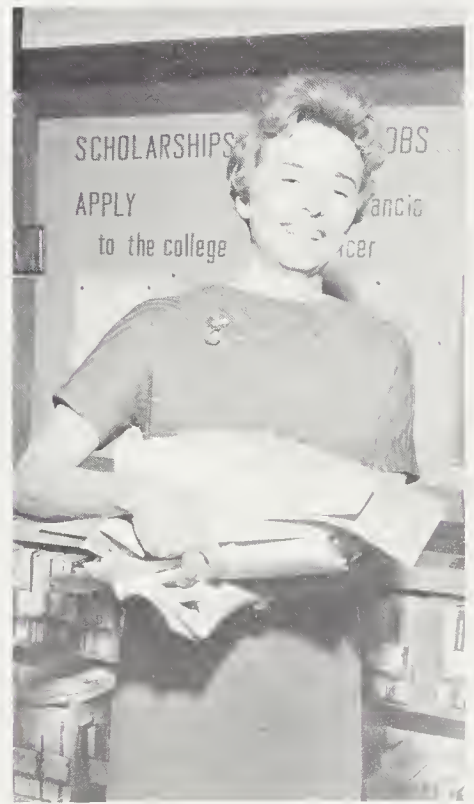

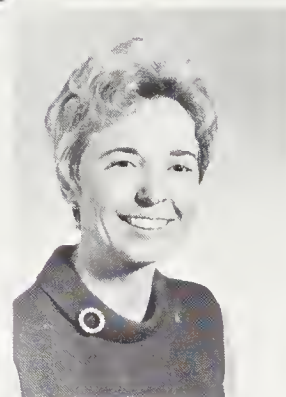

This year new materials covering various careers were available. A larger selection of college catalogs made the decision of which college to attend easier for seniors. Also, many students were referred to jobs and special training by the guidance department.

1969 PEMICAN records

A trip to Charlotte, N. C. started the headaches, confusions, and excitement involved in producing the 1969 Pemican. After touring Delmar Studios, where the Pemican is printed, the new editors chose a cover, supervised the making of color pictures, and carefully planned a layout of the entire book.

With the beginning of school, the staff and new adviser, Mrs. Jane McEvoy, began working toward a deadline of February 15. Many hours, involving picture taking, drawing layouts, composing headlines, and writing copy went into compiling the 1969 Pemican. The business staff, headed by Mrs. Mary Davis, worked continuously to sell ads.

The Pointer, Central's own newspaper, was a permanent record of past events and preview of those to come. Issued eight times a year, it served as an account of Central's history and was looked forward to by all students. Students also enjoyed reading the Pointer's various surveys, opinion polls, and letters to the editor.

The editorial staff, headed by Miss Eleanor Young, composed copy and headlines as Mr. Berryman T. Cudd's business staff combed the city for advertisements. These two staffs then combined to produce the finished product.

The Pointer was a member of the National Scholastic Press Association for the year 1968-69 and received critical service on individual issues and a rating on second-semester copies.

At Central Opus, the school's literary magazine, meant opportunity. Through Opus many students were given a chance to write and to publish their poetry, short stories, essays, and art work. Using themes of their choice, students produced original works, some of which concerned the different areas of school life. Thus, Opus helped to develop the creative talents of students.

Articles for the magazine were given to the editorial staff which chose the works that appeared in the magazine. Works were evaluated according to their literary quality. This year made the third year of publication.

Those recommended from the Pointer staff were Beverly Leviner, Ellen Leach, Kathy Morgan, Steve Peck, Robert Hulbert, Diane Godwin, Linda Lewis, Diane Myrick, and Becky Hutton. Adviser was Miss Eleanor Young.

National Honor Society bestowed honors upon those students in the upper third of their class who excelled in scholarship, leadership, character, and service. New senior members were inducted in December and new juniors were inducted in the spring. Advised by Mrs. Carylon Dockery and Mrs. Carolyn Phillips, members of NHS co-hosted College Day, entered an exhibit for Homecoming festivities, served a tea, and sold senior calling cards. An NHS scrapbook was organized during the year by members of the society. In the spring, several members represented Central at the NHS state convention.

Each fall at High Point Central members of the senior class, having acquired a grade average of 3.00, and juniors, having acquired an average of 3.50, have become honorary members of the National Beta Club. This year forty-three new junior members and fifty new seniors were inducted into the organization. These students were not chosen by any outside influence; rather they were able to join solely on the basis of their high school grade achievement.

In the spring of the year, Beta Club members of the Junior Class honored the senior members with a tea. Beta Club also sponsored a coffee for the benefit of the College Day advisers. All club activities were carried out under the direction of Miss Geneva Highfill.

Members of the 1969 Masque and Gavel were chosen on the basis of their outstanding abilities in the fields of speech and dramatics. The main goal of this speech national honor society was to encourage an exceptional quality in dramatic acting and informal speech for everyday use as well as for formal speaking. Under the direction and supervision of Miss Ruth Goodman, speech department head, and through bi-monthly meetings, this club was able to uphold its standards by class discussions and assembly talks.

Masque and Gavel had two main projects—a speech festival at Wake Forest University, and one-act plays, presented to the student body.

Co-ordinating the student bodies of William Penn High School and Central was the primary responsibility of the Student Council Executive Board. These eighteen members worked endlessly with the results being the best year ever at Central.

Six committees operated from the Student Council with a Student Council member heading each and reporting its progress.

Homecoming, sponsored by Student Council, was very successful with the Civitans and Civinettes producing the award-winning float. The Bison winning climaxed the Homecoming festivities.

The Student Council also sponsored a project to rebuild a school in Bolivia. Central's students secured $676.83 during this two week project.

The National Forensic League honors, with membership, people who have ability and perseverance in competitive speaking. Included in their activities are interscholastic debates, speech contests, and student congresses.

Fourth period provided members with a special time to prepare and practice their speeches. This year, a credit was given in this field.

In the fall of 1968 several practice tournaments were held between area schools. The Furniture City Invitational Tournament, held November 15-16, had Central hosting twenty-nine schools representing seven eastern states. Central students did not enter competition, but supervised the tournament. They were also host to the Carolina's District Congress in the spring. Other important tournaments were held at Boston, Miami, Houston, Georgetown, Emory University, and Wake Forest University.

The Central NFL coaches, Mrs. Bruce Roberts and Michael Pierce, accompanied the students to the tournaments.

Resolved: that Congress should establish a system of compulsory service by all citizens. With this topic in mind, Central's varsity and junior varsity debaters worked diligently to achieve a won-lost record equal to those in past years and to advance to nationals as was done in 1968. Their record was excellent; at the end of first semester, the overall debate score was thirty-one wins and thirteen losses.

The debaters covered many miles debating affirmatively and negatively, standard and cross-examination. The two varsity teams, composed of Joe Loveland—Roger Carrick and Sheryl Robinson—Elmore Alexander represented Central in Boston, Massachusetts, where they were one of two southern schools attending. Other debate tournaments were held at Emory University, Georgetown University, and in Miami, Dallas, and Columbia, South Carolina.

Assisting the YMCA Men's Club in the annual Christmas tree sale, collecting money for the Muscular Dystrophy campaign, and donating a substantial sum of money to the World Service Fund were some of the many projects performed by the Hi-Y. Members of the club met on Monday evenings at the YMCA to plan their projects and carry out their purpose of sustaining the high standards of Christian character in the school and throughout the community. These meetings were more meaningful because of a variety of interesting speakers.

Advised by Mr. Roger Hedgecock and Mr. John Lockman of the YMCA, several delegates attended the statewide Hi-Y convention in December.

Now in their second year, the Junior Jaycees continued to render service to both school and community. Once again this year, they assisted in community paper drives and other worthwhile activities such as the Junior Miss Pageant. Also, one of their members was always around at sports activities to boost school spirit by wearing the Bison costume.

This year the Junior Jaycees met every other Wednesday night at the High Point Jaycee office. New president of the club was Dale Waldon, and the new adviser was Mr. Alan Saunders.

At the state convention in March, the Central club was voted outstanding Junior Jaycee group in North Carolina for school projects.

Inter-Act, one of Central's fastest growing and most active service clubs, again held up its reputation for building good character in its members. Inter-Act gave invaluable service to its school and community. One of the highlights of the club's year was the sponsoring of Career Day 1969, which exposed Central's students to the many occupational opportunities they could pursue in life.

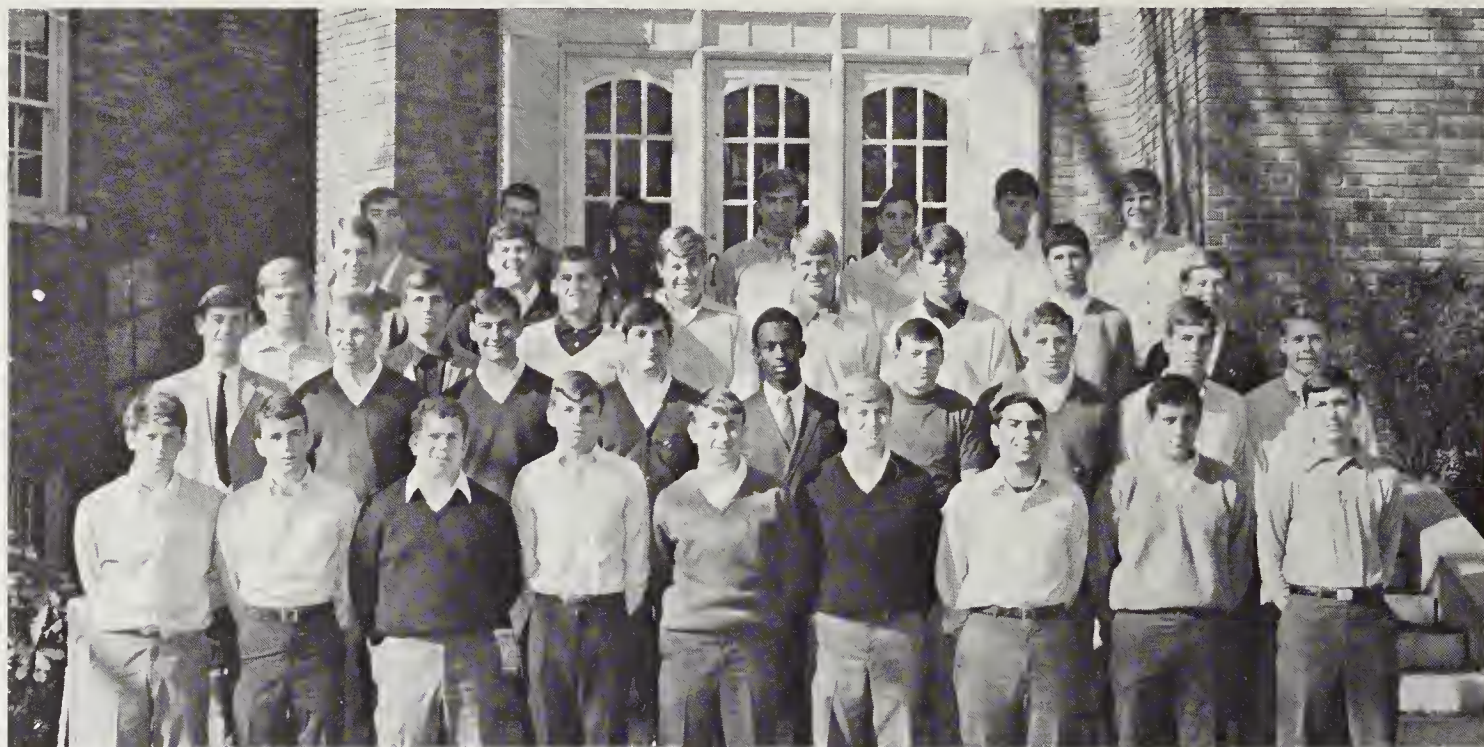

Inter-Act, sponsored by the High Point Rotary Club, corresponded with an Inter-Act Club in England as one of its international projects. The members of the club helped at the annual Rotary Club Barbecue and Auction and helped raise money for charities.

At their weekly meetings the group discussed ways to increase their knowledge and understanding of national, state, and world affairs.

Promoting good citizenship throughout the community continued to be the motto of the Junior Civitans as they worked for the Cerebral Palsy Fund Drive. As a service to the school, they assisted other clubs in keeping the grounds clean. They also helped in athletics by carrying chains in the football games. In basketball, they spotlighted the players when they were introduced. Although their main project was the distribution of the student identification cards, they also made a collection of ditty bags for the Red Cross. As their money making project, the Civitans had a bake sale.

Meeting every week in the homes of one of the members, the boys discussed how they could improve sportsmanlike conduct at Central High School. Adviser for the Civitans at their meetings was Mr. William Reeves.

Meeting bimonthly to plan school and community projects, Junior Civinettes fulfilled their goal of service to girls within the club as well as to those without. For some of their activities they filled ditty bags for soldiers in Vietnam, sponsored Operation Victory during football season, co-sponsored the winning Homecoming float, polished trophies, operated a coat-check stand for the basketball spectators, and designated the last home basketball game as Senior Night.

Major projects included a School Beautification Plan, helping mentally retarded children, sponsoring a Vietnam Valentine project, donating money from a paper drive to the foreign language department to help send a student to France, and directing a marathon drive for furniture and clothing to be sent to Burnsville, N. C. Advisers for the Civinettes were Miss Emily Steifle and Miss Mary Hooper.

By raising the flag over High Point Central on the first day of school, the Key Club began carrying out the various projects by which it has been identified through the years. Besides performing its services to the school and community, the Key Club, under the direction of Mr. Keith Yokley, was also very much concerned with the development of leadership and fellowship among its members. It was not difficult to spot the efforts of the organization to fulfill these aims. Key Club members not only raised and lowered the flag each morning and afternoon, but also donated the painted trash cans around the school, ushered at football and basketball games, and provided the student directory for each pupil. Through these well planned service programs, the Key Club achieved the meaningful goal by which it is known.

Keyettes plant and maintain shrubbery in front of the gym to add a pleasant view for visitors.

As one of their many projects, Keyettes clean Central's grounds.

The 1968-69 school year proved to be a busy one for the hardworking Keyettes. Advisers Miss Landry Neely and Mrs. Nancy Simon helped to keep things going.

Striving to help whenever possible, Keyettes cleaned grounds, worked at the concession stand during football games, and prepared cookies for faculty meetings.

In order to give Bison football players a boost, Keyettes prepared and served dessert to them during lunch. The basketball team was also treated with snacks after the games. Another successful project was the planting and maintaining of shrubbery in front of the gymnasium. Keyettes were honored this year by placing second in the Homecoming display competition. During exams, the club sponsored a "bang-up" car.

Every Friday, two Keyette members were hosted by the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon at the Top of the Mart.

Before departing for the circus with twenty-five underprivileged children, Sub-Juniors pose for the Pemican photographer.

With their goal of promoting social growth among future young women, the members of the Sub-Junior Club added to the cultural and civic welfare development of the school and community. Advised by Mrs. Betty Mayer, the girls planned many worthwhile projects throughout 1968-1969. Their projects included giving out litter bags, providing refreshments for officials during the football and basketball games, acting as hostesses at the High Point Junior Woman's Club Art Exhibit, and collecting toys for the Gold Door.

Sub-Juniors also contributed to organizations outside the community—Biafra, U.S.S. Hope, Care, and UNICEF.

To attain membership, these young men had to earn a letter in at least one varsity sport. Advised by Coach William Dameron, the club was an active force in stimulating CHS students to support their Bison teams and their school.

Anchor Club's cushion sale launches year

Anchor Club members Pam Mahala and Gale Waldon sell Bison cushions for project.

Sponsored by Pilot International, Anchor Club continued to serve the school and community, as they have since 1964. They started the new school year by having a successful drive in selling High Point Central cushions, which were used by many fans at sports events. Other projects during the year were a candy drive in December and January, bake sales, and luncheons for teachers.

Members attended the Anchor Club Convention held at Smith High School in Greensboro, November 16. Advisers for the year were Miss Louise McConnell and Mrs. Catherine McElwee. The Pilot adviser was Mrs. Bea Lambeth.

Under the guidance of Miss Nancy McInnis and Mrs. Verdie B. Kendall, the girls helped the Junior League assemble "Fun Books" for the special education classes in various elementary schools in High Point. They also sold holly for the YWCA before Christmas and served at the annual World Fellowship Dinner, which was held at the YWCA.

The purpose of the club was to bind women and girls in discovering their ideals of personal and social living as Christians.

Pep Club was an outgrowth of the tremendous spirit which was the basic element of life at Central. During the year that spirit was evident as Pep Club formed a cheering section and distributed Bison Booster Tags. Also, to boost team morale and strengthen student support of school activities, it sponsored "Blue and White Day," "Sink the Pirates Day," "Stomp Dudley Day" and others. To further promote spirit, Pep Club sold Bison Booster License Plates.

As the year 1968-1969 came to a close, spirit was at its highest peak in the history of Central and Pep Club had a part in that spirit.

Science Club advances in research world

Cary Dockery and Robert Bryden prepare posters for the Science Fair.

The Science Club developed a keen interest in the scientific research of today's world. Each meeting was enlivened by discussions of projects and by informative programs.

The main project of the club was the Science Fair. Through this fair the true scientists of High Point Central High were revealed as they received awards for their time consuming projects. From the local level, winners progressed to district and state levels.

Through projects such as these, the Science Club provided a true link between the students and the world of science. They became increasingly aware of the importance of science in everyday life.

Math Club raises money for advanced study

In the opinion of the members of the Math Club, mathematics can be fun. The main purpose of the club this year was to further interest in higher mathematics on the high school level. In order to develop this purpose the members met on the first and third Tuesdays of each month to listen and participate in programs planned especially for their interests. These programs helped encourage advancement in the field of mathematics.

The club undertook a project to raise money in order to buy math books. These books were donated to the school library.

Math Club participates in Homecoming competition.

The primary aim of Le Cercle Francais was to interest its members in the French civilization. By selling stationery, each member of the club contributed to the fund set aside for the honored student who was chosen to travel to France during the summer of 1969. Other outstanding activities included a Christmas Party based on French customs and traditions, the partial sponsoring of Foreign Language Week, and a banquet at their final meeting.

All juniors and seniors with a B average and sophomores with an A average were eligible for membership; however, teacher recommendations were a deciding factor in the selection of new members. Upon attaining membership, each student was required to correspond with a French student.

Members of the Spanish Club in conjunction with the French Club raised money to send a student abroad, this year to France. The cooperation between the student body and the clubs' members made this annual project of the language department a success. A colorful Spanish fiesta was also part of their agenda this year. It gave all the members of the Spanish Club a chance to participate and have fun. Adios!

J C L discovers value of classical culture

Members of High Point Central's Junior Classical League, with adviser Mrs. Carolyn Phillips, endeavored to pass on the torch of classical civilization to the modern world throughout the 1968-69 school year. Again this year, the JCL sent delegates to the state convention in Chapel Hill, where competitive events were held in the fields of derivatives, mythology, background, and translation.

New members were initiated into the club during Latin Week, while old JCL members worked hard to show their appreciation of the Latin civilization. Sold as slaves, the inductees performed at the command of their masters. The annual Roman banquet brought events of the year to a close by letting owners be fed by their servants.

Homes where truth and love

The above words, taken from the FHA creed guided members of FHA as they took on community projects for the year. Activities included the crowning of the Miss FHA Sweetheart in February, providing a party for the children at Mill's home, and the Mother-Daughter Banquet in April at which time the mothers of members were honored.

Members attended the FHA District 5 Rally in Greensboro, where High Point was the hostess chapter. Mrs. Mae Murphy, adviser, attended the National Convention in Miami, Florida.

Students of Central High owe much to the dedicated members of the Library Club. These girls and their advisers, Miss Bain Johnson and Miss Elizabeth Byrd, worked diligently to render very useful services to the school. A major purpose of the club was to encourage greater use of the library and its facilities.

The members of the Library Club decorated the library as their Christmas project. They also put up attractive and imaginative bulletin boards.

Central's Library Club was a member of the North Carolina High School Library Association. In November the members of the club went to the Central District meeting at Rockingham Community College. This April they attended the state meeting in Durham.

Tammye Stancil presents the monthly FTA program.

Led by Mrs. Martha S. Rogers, the members of the 1968-69 Future Teachers of America spent a very active year. Inspired by the fact that several members of the 1967-68 club had received Federal Teaching Loans of $600, the girls met each month to foster the development of student leadership.

As a service to parents, members served as guides for the PTSA open house held during National Education Week. Other projects were the selling of Pemican covers, sponsoring a Christmas party at Mills Home, decorating the faculty dining room and lounge at Easter, and attending the Future Teachers of America convention in Greensboro.

The local chapter of FTA was affiliated with the NEA and NCEA, thus giving its members perspective into what is expected of teachers.

Students who were enrolled in at least one or more business courses during the year were eligible to become members of the Future Business Leaders of America. The purpose of the club was to develop competent business leadership and create interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations. The adviser for the year was Miss Sandra Medford.

The 1968-1969 year proved to be a successful one as far as projects were concerned. During Christmas, members of the club gave a party for the children at Mill's Home. Others decorated the faculty lounge with the holiday touch. The club served the community by collecting for the Heart Fund and Muscular Dystrophy.

FCA emphasizes sportsmanlike behavior

All boys at High Point Central who participated in at least one sport were eligible for membership in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. FCA not only promoted sportsmanship among athletes, but sought to teach young men to live by the standards of Christians as well as athletes.

The annual dinner for their membership drive was held at the Millis Farm. On various occasions, the FCA had famous athletes as speakers for club purposes and for student body assemblies.

At their meetings the members discussed how they could have fun and fellowship together, on and off the field. In the spring, FCA held their annual basketball tournament.

Coach Boyles along with Coach Atkinson were the club advisers.

Youth Volunteer Jane Horney assists at High Point Memorial Hospital.

Devoting much time and energy, Red Cross Youth Volunteers gave four hours a month aiding patients and staff at High Point Memorial Hospital. After a period of training, these girls assisted in pharmacy, laboratory, central supply, and surgical escort. They also worked directly with the patients on the various floors. Youth Volunteers also proved invaluable in helping during visits of the Red Cross Bloodmobile. Many volunteers also served in the summer program at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Salisbury.

The Youth Volunteers gave many bedridden patients individual attention to brighten their hospital stay. Often a Youth Volunteer found herself refilling water pitchers, straightening beds, making phone calls, writing letters, or just chatting with a talkative patient.

Winners of the stage band contest at Wake Forest, Central's stage band experienced a fine year despite the loss of many seniors from the previous year.

The symphonic and concert bands both had a very good year. The symphonic band won a superior rating at the state contest while the concert band brought home an excellent rating.

provides classical music for student body

High Point Central's Symphonic Orchestra has again achieved a high degree of perfection in performance during the 1968-69 school year. This year has seen the orchestra perform in the festival in Greensboro, join with the other musical groups to present the annual Christmas concert, and send members who have qualified to the all-state orchestra. Throughout the year Mr. Ruth has stressed technique and interpretation with his symphonic orchestra. This orchestra is the largest of the school's and is comprised of many band members to complement the string sound.

Under the direction of Mr. Ruth, the orchestra practices diligently.

All-state orchestra honors three CHS students

There are also several smaller groups in which orchestra members participate, such as: the Chamber Orchestra, the String Quartet, and the High Point Symphony Orchestra. Those groups are made up of some of the more advanced students. The smaller groups function mostly by performing at civic meetings.

Many times this year the orchestra has shown its ability to perform well under pressure and to interpret any kind of music. Perhaps the most trying piece of music performed this year was the Symphony No. 40 in G Minor by Mozart.

All in all this year has seen a good measure of success for High Point's orchestral program in performance and advancement technically.

Centralaires, a newly organized choir at Central High, performed along with familiar A Cappella Choir during the 1968-69 year. A Cappella and Centralaires, along with other choirs, presented a Christmas concert in December and a spring concert in May. They also performed for church groups, civic organizations, and the High Point Easter Sunrise Service.

Several members from both choirs attended a Choral Festival Workshop held at UNC-G and Choral Workshop held at UNC-CH. The goal for the year was to improve the pronunciation of consonants. Along with Choralettes, A Cappella and Centralaires had a chance to prove how much they had learned by participating in the District Choral Contest and receiving a grade on how well they performed.

Along with other CHS choral groups, Choralettes presented a musical program in a Christmas and spring concert. Under the direction of Mrs. Florence Greene, the members of Choralettes worked toward the goal of promoting a better understanding of choral singing and learning the techniques involved. The purpose of this all-girl choir was simply the enjoyment of singing. Amidst other performances, the Choralettes also participated in the District Choral Contest.

compose Central's 68 Homecoming Court

A mood of excitement, anticipation, and tension filled the air as Central students prepared for float competition and the Homecoming game. The Black Bison fought arch-rival Grimsley and were victorious with a final score of 19-6. Homecoming winning exhibits were announced at half-time. Central's stage and marching bands entertained on the October 12 night.

The crowning of Homecoming Queen Cathy Frazier by football co-captain Terry Kelly highlighted the evening. Cathy, escorted by Jay Spencer, was chosen from a court consisting of six senior girls. Attendants and their escorts were: Maids of Honor, Donna Hartley and Ed Reid, Linda Lewis and Armand Brussier; Senior Attendants, Carolyn Amos and Davis Beaton, Joy Latimer, and Clarence Ilderton, Mary Susan White and Bill Johnson; Junior Attendants, Lynne Bernot and Marvin Miller, Nancie McDermott and Bill Slane, Ann Thomas and John Parks; Sophomore Attendants, Vicki Blackwelder and C. In November of the 1968-1969 school year, 66 colleges and 20 technical schools were represented at High Point Central. Juniors and seniors counseled with various representatives from the colleges of their choice, presenting an academic schedule of their high school years. This served as an important day, for it provided students with valuable information about their future schooling.

Career Day helps students plan for future

Putting countless hours of work into the event, members of the High Point Rotary Club, the Inter-Act Club, and the CHS faculty made a tremendous success of Career Day 1968. Prominent business and professional men of High Point offered a program concerning future vocations for Central High students.

Information about requirements, money earnings, and advancement in various fields were the general topics of discussion in each of the conferences. In each of the meetings the business representatives gave advice and information about their specific field of work.

Opening ceremonies were held in the auditorium with Leo J. Heer, Rotary Club committee chairman, presiding. The need to have a complete education was stressed by each speaker.

bounce back behind alert passing defense

Pointed toe met pigskin as High Point Central launched its 1968 football season against R. J. Reynolds. The Bison committed nearly every mistake possible in the first half and allowed Reynolds to build up a 29-0 lead at half-time. Central outscored the Demons in the second half, but the rally fell short and the Bison lost 36-13. East Forsyth visited High Point and took home a 19-6 defeat. A ball control offense and a tremendous pass defense stopped the Eagles cold. Against North Forsyth, Central served up three touchdowns on a platter, and North greedily picked them off to hand the Bison a 32-19 defeat. Returning home for their first conference encounter, High Point whipped Dudley's Panthers 13-3. Dudley had just cut the Bison lead to 6-3 when Terry Kelly took the ensuing kickoff 83 yards for a touchdown that iced the victory.

Central touchdown explosion blasts Smith

Ken Ingram finds the going rough as he plows for a short gain against Grimsley.

A convincing lecture from unsatisfied Coach Myers remedies a sloppy performance.

Bison and Pirate defenses stole the show in Central's second conference game against Page. A second period interception by the Pirates led to the only score of the game as the Bison fell 7-0. High Point was stopped twice inside the Pirate 20-yard line. The Black Bison kept coming back like the ocean's tide, and when the final whistle blew, Central had drowned the Eagles of Smith 40-33 in the wildest and most thrilling game of the season. Touchdowns flew all over the field with three being scored in the span of one minute. Ken Ingram smashed across the goal-line three times — his third putting the game in cold storage. A blocked punt, a 67-yard touchdown drive and a fantastic display of defense was High Point's key to victory over Lexington 13-7. Like Ol' Man River, Central's football machine rolled along to an impressive 19-6 victory over arch-rival Grimsley. A blocked punt started the Bison thundering to victory on Homecoming night.

Sammy Johnson pours on the speed to outdistance Grimsley pursuers.

Bison win conference title, enter playoff

The crushing Bison ground attack turned into an aerial circus as Sammy Johnson threw four touchdown passes in the first half in a 39-7 romp over Parkland. A conference championship and state play-off berth were on the line when the Bison took on Burlington. On the fourth play of the game, Burlington scored on a 63 yard punt return. Then Ken Ingram received the Bulldog kickoff, and scampered 94 yards while breaking eight tackles enroute to a touchdown. The 27-7 victory over Burlington headed the Bison toward a play-off game with Wilson Fike. Both teams were evenly matched, but Wilson managed to seek out a 13-7 victory over High Point. Wilson led at the half, but Central pulled into a 7-6 lead early in the third quarter. Seizing a 13-7 lead on a 48-yard touchdown pass, Wilson held a last ditch Bison attempt for a touchdown at their 18-yard line. Thus ended a most successful season under new head coach Roy Boyles.

Eluding Dudley tacklers, Sammy Johnson streaks through the secondary to gain valuable yardage.

J.V. Bison topple Dudley, North Forsyth

Although Central's Baby Bison gridders appeared to have a talented and determined team, they compiled a disappointing 2-8 record during the 1968 football season. After compiling a respectable 2-2 record early in the season, the J.V. gridders lost six straight games merely because of mistakes. Sparked by the efforts of offensive standout Fred Ingram and linebacker Tom Dillard, the Baby Bison narrowly beat North Forsyth, 13-12, then won their second consecutive victory by crushing Dudley 36-19.

Lack of light wrestlers hurts Bison team

Steven Nelson attempts to pin Donnie Hubbard during a practice session.

Plagued by inexperience in the light weight classes, CHS's wrestling team compiled a 1-15-1 record for the year. Throughout the season the heavier weight classes gave the Bison wrestlers most of their points. Steve Nelson, Donnie Hubbard, Gary Cecil, Ken Ingram, and Harry Leak were the class of the team as they lost only six matches among them during the season. These matmen led the Bison to a second place finish in the district tourney and an eighth place finish in the state match.

Bison fast break gives Sam Steele easy lay-up against Parkland.

High Point's Black Bison opened the 1968-69 basketball season under new head coach Roger Nelson with a 79-52 victory over North Forsyth. The Bison began home court play by whipping E. C. Glass 59-42. Foul shooting was the key in High Point's 43-37 triumph over Parkland. Central hit 7 of 9 free tosses in the last quarter to capture the victory. Although an overtime was required, High Point ran their victory string to four in a row against East Forsyth, winning 52-48. After trading baskets for three quarters with Asheville, the Bison dropped their first game 67-61. High Point's defense was like a rusty bolt against E. C. Glass as the Bison ran up a 59-37 victory. In a return clash with Parkland, Central lost their second game 56-52.

Bison rip by Dudley and arch-rival Grimsley

Despite a strong second half, High Point couldn't cope with 6' 11" Danny Traylor who led Reynolds to a 74-66 triumph over the Bison. Against North Forsyth the Bison had to rely on a third quarter rally and a last second lay-up by Phil Butler to pull out a heart-stopping 55-54 win. Central got their fast break clicking and scored 50 points in the second half to demolish East Forsyth, 88-52. High Point began conference play by defeating Dudley 66-55, then disaster struck as the Bison lost four games in a row to Page, Grimsley, Burlington, and Smith. Dudley visited the High Point gym for a return match against Central and left with a 68-59 loss to the Bison in their hip-pocket. The game was tight for three quarters, but the Bison fast break was too much for the Panthers.

Traveling to Page, High Point threw a big scare into the Page rooters before bowing to the Pirates 66-62. The Bison, trailing by as much as seven points in the third quarter, bounced back to lead by one point before trailing off at the end of the game. Arch-rival Grimsley was the next victim of the thundering Bison who played flawless basketball in their best game of the year. Both teams shot well for three quarters; then the Whirlies went cold and Bison Calvin Steed poured in four baskets to break open a close contest and send the Bison winging to a 61-54 victory. After leading Burlington at half, High Point ran into a full-court press and fell to the Bulldog rally, 56-52. Trailing Smith going into the fourth quarter, the Bison put on a torrid rally, but it fell shy with the Bison coming out on the losing end, 93-62.

From the first tip-off it was obvious that the leaping, running, shooting and literally overwhelming type basketball the Baby Bison played couldn't help but bring a winning season. The JV was a team that had rebounding strength in Tim Blackburn and Dwight Rawlenson, shooting strength in Sam Johnson and Tom McKenzie, and ball control strength in Orlando Hudson. Thus it was not too surprising when they wound up the season having posted sixteen powerful victories against only four defeats.

Harriers launch first season at Central

The 1968 fall sports scene had a new entry at Central as the cross country team made its debut. Coached by Mr. Saunders, the boys who participated ran many miles a week over fields and golf courses in preparation for the two mile run. Spearheaded by Steve Hoskins, Milton Goins, Barry Latham, and Richard Hartley, the Bison harriers ran second in all their tri-meets and placed fourth in the conference race.

Central had a very fine swimming team this year despite several losses. One of the main reasons for the losses was the lack of divers. Highlighting the year were the two victories over Greensboro Smith. Central tankmen participated in the Central 4-A conference meet and qualified for the state 4-A championship held in Chapel Hill. Leading the squad was Mike Soutter, the top butterfly and individual medley swimmer in the Central 4-A Conference.

Winning four of seven matches, High Point Central golfers stroked their way to first place in Group II of the Central 4-A Conference. The fairway journeymen were third in the first two matches, but finished strong to beat Grimsley. In the fourth match CHS shot a season low of 307 to win their second match in a row. Although dropping to sixth place in the conference tourney, the Bison entered the sectional tournament as a favorite. The golfers finished second to qualify for the state tourney.

This was a sign of things to come, for by the end of the season the Bison netmen had compiled a strong 10-4 record. In an unbelievable seven of these wins, they had won perfect matches.

Two of the Bison standouts were Jay Spencer and Bob Bodle, the doubles team, who made it to the quarter finals in the state tournament.

Central's track team started spring workouts with great hopes among the coaches as well as the members of the squad of improving last year's dismal finish. In their opening meet and again near the end of the season, the Bison cindermen valiantly battled a strong Dudley team but were defeated both times. The lone bright spot of the year was the meet against East Forsyth when the Bison, with strong showings in the high jump and hurdles, took a 68-41 victory.

Black Bison whip three teams in playoffs

The 1968 baseball season was the year of the Bison. Fine pitching, good fielding, and excellent hitting led Central to second place in the conference, as well as the state 4-A finals against Wilson Fike.

Compiling a 17-7 record, the Bison won many of their games in the final innings. In the playoffs, West Forsyth, Charlotte Garinger, and North Mecklenburg went down to defeat against the Bison.

Coach Calvin Lang's junior varsity baseball squad came through with a respectable 8-7 won-lost record during the 1968 season, as they slugged their way through the Central 4-A conference schedule. The fielding and hitting were average according to Coach Lang, who also pointed out that most of the losses could be attributed to errors. Opening the season with a 12-2 win over East Forsyth, CHS won six out of eight games against non-conference foes, including a four game winning streak.

In the championship match, Fayetteville managed to play the Bison close in the first game, but with the back row setting up the front row for continuous spikes, High Point ran away with the match and the championship trophy.

GAA offers recreation for Central's girls

Girls who were interested in sports and enjoyed the excitement of competition were invited to join the Girls' Athletic Association at Central. Members met twice each week with advisers Miss Pat Hester and Miss Cassandra Cozart to plan various sports events as well as social activities.

Major sports events included a Volleyball Playday in Greensboro and one at Ragsdale High. During the winter the girls practiced diligently for the girls' basketball teams. In the spring, GAA planned and sponsored the N. C. 4A Sportsday in High Point, and they also attended the N. C. State GAA Playday held at UNC-G.

At the end of the year awards were given depending on a girl's participation, co-operation, and what she added to the total effort throughout the year.

Varsity girls win nine in victory streak

Varsity roundballers battle for rebound during practice session.

The quickness and speed displayed by Central's girls' Varsity basketball team proved to be fatal for most of the teams that crossed its path. After beginning the season by losing four of their first six games, the Varsity Bisonettes won their last nine games in succession to complete an excellent 11-4 season.

Beaten only by Northeast Junior High, the JV girls, led by a strong defense, also had a winning season. Inexperience proved to be little hindrance to the JV Bisonettes who used their enthusiasm and determination as their greatest asset.

It was proven once again by both the Varsity and JV girls' basketball teams that constant hustle is the key to victory.

With boundless energy the Varsity Cheerleaders injected great vigor into the students at games and boosted the Bison morale. In victory or defeat the cheerleaders showed school spirit at its best.

The Varsity Cheerleaders sponsored Father's Night and also organized and led caravans to the football games. At Homecoming they decorated the stadium. To finance their projects, they advertised and sold programs and confetti at the games.

The energetic JV Cheerleaders cheered the Baby Bison on to many victories. Throughout the football and basketball seasons they assisted the Varsity Cheerleaders with their various projects.

Besides introducing many new cheers, the Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders proudly displayed their new uniforms.

Bison Berets: new halftime entertainment

BISON BERETS: Amos, Walker, Ferriter, Timmons, Dixon, Lee, Gray, Harris, Laggins, Mowery, Griffin, Kearns, Carlson, Barringer.

Two of Central's Bison Berets receive help with final adjustments from Miss McInnis, sponsor.

High Point Central's new contribution to the field of entertainment is the Bison Berets, a drill team that focuses on dance. The idea of a drill team for Central was first suggested in Student Congress. Definite plans were made for a team after the Jaycettes promised financial support. Following a meeting with the group at R. J. Reynolds High School, approximately thirty-five girls tried out. The final team was composed of fourteen girls, advised by Miss Nancy McInnis.

After hours of hard work, the Bison Berets enhanced the home basketball games. Next year, they hope to perform at both football and basketball games with music provided by the pep band.

Practice sessions started in September—in the halls, in the gym, or on the sidewalk. Uniforms, bought by the girls, varied from game to game according to the occasion. Choreographed by the team, the routines were led by Anita Dixon and Patsy Lee.

Athletic aides help coaches in many ways

Cathy Brewer and Lee Lyles take time off their duties as coach's assistants to have a bit of fun with Mr. Beasley.

Invaluable assistance to the athletic coaches was provided by the coaches' staff. These girls volunteered their time to serve in various ways in the athletics offices. Typing letters and athletic records, keeping files orderly, answering the telephone, and running countless errands were all necessary jobs performed by the staff members. Their assistance with routine work and odd jobs kept the athletic offices in a workable condition and "running smoothly." In giving their services, the girls acquired efficiency in office work, gained experience in working with people, and gained knowledge of athletic organization.

We Dedicate . . .

We search for knowledge, beliefs, and identity. Our quest involves people — people with the wisdom that comes from experience. At Central, one person stands out — a teacher — who encourages and spirits her students, allowing them freedom for their development. To her physical science and physics students, she presents the technical aspects of life simply and directly. As co-sponsor of the National Honor Society, she represents the character, leadership, scholarship, and service qualities comprising its code. She is Mrs. Carylton B. Dockery, and to her we dedicate the 1969 PEMICAN.

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores, our future leaders, were an active class this year. Wherever one went, they were there keeping and adding to the fun by participating in sports, service clubs, academic clubs, and musical organizations.

Student Council was glad to have their ideas and enthusiasm. One of the contributions to Student Council was the painting of the suggestion boxes posted in the school.

For their fund-raising project they sold magazines. Sophomores also brought their spirit to all the games and had lots of enthusiasm. They adjusted to their new life at Central by adding their ideas, fun, spirit, and help to all phases of school life.

JUNIORS

For many students, this junior year was the time to establish themselves as solid citizens of High Point Central High. Many juniors joined academic and service clubs, participated in athletic programs, and took College Boards and other tests which helped them prepare for their future.

To bring the student body closer together, the juniors started having regular meetings of the Junior Class. Assembling on every other Tuesday, each junior homeroom sent a representative to the meetings. The Senior and Sophomore Classes followed this example.

Homecoming Day was an exciting day for everyone, especially for those juniors who worked on the Junior Class float. In the float competition, it tied for third place. Other projects this year included a car wash in March. Realizing that their junior year has now come to an end, the Class of 1970 looks ahead to the challenges of their last year at Central.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Ann Thomas, treasurer; Larry Robbins, vice-president; Helen Easter, secretary; Danny Fowler, president.

Junior class representatives outline plans for car wash.

Junior, Bobby Slate, is fitted for his class ring.

SENIORS

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Jay Spencer, vice-president; Cathy Brewer, secretary; Joe Loveland, president; Susan Rowe, treasurer.

After three exciting, hard-working, and fun-filled years at Central, the Senior Class of 1969 began to anticipate graduation more avidly than ever before.

The seniors utilized all their privileges in their final year such as choosing senior superlatives, constructing a Homecoming float, selecting senior members of the Homecoming Court, attending the Senior Banquet and Awards Day, and taking part in the Junior-Senior prom.

Many seniors made plans to further their education by going to college, while others looked forward to starting their careers immediately after graduation.

To many seniors, graduation meant achieving one goal in order to initiate a grueling trek toward an even greater one.

GUILFORD TECHNICAL INSTITUTE

Last year Guilford Technical Institute's enrollment increased about 35%. The new Library-Classroom building was dedicated last August and construction was started on a new Health-Science building in October.

Several new courses have been added to the curriculum. A number of new teachers and department chairmen have been added to the faculty.

Guilford Technical Institute's 26 programs provide technical and vocational courses to meet the needs of almost everyone interested in additional training beyond the high school level.

Start planning now to enroll at GTI next fall. For information consult your high school counselor—or telephone, write or visit the GTI Admissions Office.

Our 55th Year

Thank You

— To Mr. Shaver for your guidance, patience, and assistance through a year of "firsts" for everyone on the staff. To our faculty goes special thanks for helping with picture-taking, picture sales, subscriptions, and distribution of the Pemican.

— To all CHS students for your suggestions and assistance in identifying pictures and your support of our Pemican.

— To Delmar Studios, Mr. Max Ward, and Mr. C. F. Boswell for their welcomed assistance in drawing layouts and planning photographs.

— To Mr. Honeycutt for his assistance and perfection with photography.

— To Mrs. Davis, Carolyn, Kathy, and the entire business staff for the most outstanding job of selling ads in the history of the Pemican.

— Special, special thanks to the editorial staff — to India and Marcy for those impossible senior st. .st. . . statistics. To Scoot (alias Otis) for his superb sports section and his clever (?) jokes. To Linda and David for their "all-around" assistance. To Kathy, Ann, and Donni for the necessary odd jobs they performed. To Barbara, Teresa, and Susan for the many hours they spent typing. To Hedy, Ross, Eddie, Sharon, Lizzie, Susan, Mike-J, Ben, and Rob — your help into the late night hours, your witty comments, and your desire to publish the best Pemican ever were gratefully appreciated.

— To Mr. Miller, Marc, and Jay for their help in shooting and developing pictures.

— To Mrs. McEvoy — without you this annual would never have been conceivable. From the entire staff — may all your days be "Happy Birthdays."

Thanks for the memories,

Sarah
